creating new stories for children,
families and ourselves.

“They seem to have the same game plan that us parents have...we actually feel like family.”

- Dolphus Teart, parent

schools

New Story schools are more than just places where a child goes for the day to learn – our schools serve as an extension of their family. It's a place where children and their families feel safe, find hope and have the opportunity to create new chapters of success as they write their “new story” and live a fulfilling life.

We take a comprehensive approach to educating children. We work closely with families, the local school system and other professionals in the child's life to create individualized programs to meet their needs. We offer several related educational services within our schools, including:

- Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA Consulting)
- Behavioral Support Services (BSS)
- Crisis Intervention
- Occupational Therapy
- Physical Therapy
- Speech Therapy
- Counseling
- Nursing Services

The best story that a child can write is one that ends with returning to their home school, giving them the opportunity to write additional stories of growth and success.

“I am convinced that everyone can achieve a high-quality life regardless of the challenges they face. Every day is a new day with the opportunity to improve yourself and to create a new story.”

- Paul Volosov, founder and president of New Story

New Story helps children with the most serious and complex behavioral and educational challenges lead fulfilling lives. We provide the necessary supports to help children and their families create their own new stories of success and growth. We change people's lives, giving them an opportunity to experience a good life in ways they never thought possible. Their stories become our stories – creating a very powerful “new story.”

services

New Story offers a host of services and programs to help children and their families – giving them the supports they need to have a good life. Many of these services can be provided in public and private schools, New Story schools, outside of school hours, in the community or within the home setting.

New Story services include:

- Behavioral Health Rehabilitation Services (BHRS)
- Extra Miles for Families (EMF)
- Family-Based Services
- Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA Consulting)
- Intensive Case Management (ICM) / Resource Coordination

We integrate all of the services a child receives, helping to alleviate the burden of parents having to take a child to different providers and managing the process themselves.
